

Virtually possibly

For those art aficionados who are still skeptical of stepping out into the 'real' world, there are some really interesting exhibitions on the online platform. Indulge your artistic senses in not one, not two but four virtual exhibitions.

Celebrating Gundiyaali: Beyond Clay

This exhibition by Design Innovation and Craft Resource Centre (DICRC), CRDF, CEPT University, is the result of a "six-year collaborative journey of discovering and working with the terracotta crafts cluster of Gundiyaali", a village near Mandvi, Kutch. The idea was to develop opportunities for artisans by bringing together craft, tourism and experience; this was achieved over the last six years through various engagements with the community. The project was called 'Celebrating Clay: generating new forms of cultural production for craft experiential tourism'.

🏠 WHERE: Virtual exhibition, open for all on CEPT Uni website, cept.ac.in